A river cruise, actually closer to a River Boat experience, with Abercrombie & Kent brings a new Amazon option with experiences that are not only luxurious but also deeply enriching and sustainable.

The new ship will be named Pure Amazon and will feature 10 suites and two single cabins, each with a sleek interior design. Choose from three- and four- night cruises designed to showcase “the untamed beauty and diverse cultures of the Amazon,” exploring the Pacaya-Samiria National Reserve.

The itineraries, which will include highly immersive shore excursions, can be combined to create seven-night voyages, which sail on the Marañon and Ucayali rivers. Voyages will operate roundtrip from Nauta which is in close proximity to Iquitos where the nearest airport is located.

The riverboat’s restaurant will provide guests with culinary offerings that pay homage to the Amazon’s culture and capitalize on local ingredients. The vessel will also include indoor and al fresco lounge and bar areas, an outdoor pool, a massage room and a gym.
